ABSTRACT

This report summarizes provisions and highlights changes for the Individualized Education Program (IEP) within the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA) Amendments of 1997. Also included are references from the two Congressional Committee Reports -- those of the Senate Labor and Human Resources Committee and the House Committee on Education and the Workforce. An introductory section identifies changes in the overall context, including recognition that disability is a natural part of the human experience and there is a need to apply what has been learned in the last 20 years of research and experience. The report is divided into two major sections. Section 1 provides a comparison between IDEA as amended in 1990 and 1991 with the IDEA amendments of 1997 and the Committee Reports. The information is presented in tabular form with three columns showing, first, the IEP requirements prior to the 1997 amendments; second, the relevant section/s of the 1997 IDEA amendments; and, third, related information from reports of the Senate on Labor and Human Resources and the House Committee on Education and the Workforce. Section 2 compares IEP provisions within the new amendments with the current federal regulations related to the IEP and critical questions about the law's requirements. (DB)

Overview of the Individual Education Program (IEP) Provisions Within the Individuals With Disabilities Education Act (IDEA) Amendments of 1997

This document contains a summary of the IEP provisions within the IDEA Amendments of 1997. This summary highlights the changes from the Congressional Committee Reports (Senate Labor and Human Resources Committee and House Committee on Education and from the law prior to the enactment of the IDEA Amendments of 1997. Also included within this summary are selected references

The extent possible. Congress added several findings which lead to the purposes and content of the IDEA Amendments of 1997. These selected findings are in addition to those made earlier in IDEA and are as follows:

Title I, Section 601(c)

- Disability is a natural part of the human experience and in no way diminishes the right of individuals to participate in or contribute to society. Improving educational results for children with disabilities is an essential element of our national policy of ensuring equality of opportunity, full participation, independent living, and economic self-sufficiency for individuals with disabilities.  $\equiv$
- Since the enactment and implementation of the Education for All Handicapped Children Act of 1995, this Act has been successful in ensuring children with disabilities and the families of such children access to a free appropriate public education and in improving educational results for children with disabilities. 3
- However, the implementation of this Act has been impeded by low expectations, and insufficient focus on applying replicable research on proven methods of teaching and learning for children with disabilities. 4
- Over 20 years of research and experience has demonstrated that the education of children with disabilities can be made more effective by--(5)

- strengthening the role of parents and ensuring that families of such children have meaningful opportunities to participate in the education of their children at school and at home; (B)
- in order to ensure that such children benefit from such efforts and that special education can become a service for coordinating this Act with other local educational service agency, State, and Federal school improvement efforts such children rather than a place where they are sent; 9
  - providing appropriate special education and related services and aids and supports in the regular classrooms to such children, whenever appropriate; 9
    - supporting high-quality, intensive professional development for all personnel who work with such children in order to ensure that they have the skills and knowledge necessary to enable them--(E)
      - to meet developmental goals and, to the maximum extent possible, those challenging expectations that have been established for all children; and
        - to be prepared to lead productive, independent, adult lives, to the maximum extent possible, coordination with and access to general education and other programs, and a focus on teaching and learning while reducing unnecessary Because the IEP is the major underpinning of the IDEA, it must be developed, implemented, and evaluated within the context of the above and other Congressional findings that relate to flexibility, high standards, improved results, strengthened role of parents, and paperwork requirements.

The Congress provided the following purposes of the IDEA within Section 601(d):

Section 601(d):

(1)(A) to ensure that all children with disabilities have available to them a free appropriate pubic education that emphasizes special education and related services designed to meet their unique needs and prepare them for employment and independent living.

- (B) to ensure that the rights of children with disabilities and parents of such children are protected; and
- to assist States, localities, educational service agencies, and Federal agencies to provide for the education of all children with disabilities; ල
- to assist States in the implementation of a statewide, comprehensive, coordinated, multidisciplinary, interagency system of early intervention services for infants and toddlers with disabilities and their families. 3
- to ensure that educators and parents have the necessary tools to improve educational results for children with disabilities by supporting systemic-change activities; coordinated research and personnel preparation; coordinated technical assistance, dissemination, and support; and technology development and media services; and ල

Committee Reports	This provision is intended to ensure that children's special education and related services are in addition to and are affected by the general education curriculum, not separate from it.	The new emphasis on participation in the general education curriculum is not intended by the Committee to result in major expansions in the size of the IEP of dozens of pages of detailed goals and benchmarks or objectives in every curricular content standard or skill. The new focus is intended to produce attention to the accommodations and adjustments necessary for disabled children to access the general education curriculum and the special services which may be necessary	for appropriate participation in particular areas of the curriculum due to the nature of the disability.  Specific day to day adjustments in instructional methods and approaches that are made by either a regular or special education teacher to assist a disabled child to achieve his or her annual goals	would not normally require action by the child's IEP team. However, if changes are contemplated in the child's measurable annual goals, benchmarks, or short term objectives, or in any of the services or program modifications, or other components described in the child's IEP, the LEA must ensure that the child's IEP team is reconvened in a timely manner to address those changes.

Section 613(a) State Plans

Committee Reports	The bill requires that, at the beginning of every school year, an IEP be in effect for each child with a disability served by an LEA, a State agency, or an SEA. In the case of a child with a disability aged 3 through 5 (or at the discretion of the State educational agency, a 2-year old child with a disability who will turn 3 during the school year), an individualized family service plan that contains the requirements described in section 636, and that is developed in accordance with section 614, may serve as the child's IEP if using that plan as the IEP is consistent with State policy and agreed to by the agency and the child's parents.
Section 614(d)(2) Requirement That Program Be In Effect (A) In General- At the beginning of each school year, each local educational agency, State educational agency, or other State agency, as the case may be, shall have in effect, for each child with a disability in its jurisdiction, an individualized education program, as defined in paragraph (1)(A).	Section 614(d)(2) Program for Children Aged 3 Through 5 (B) In the case of a child with a disability aged 3 through 5 (or, at the discretion of the State educational agency, a 2 year-old child with a disability who will turn age 3 during the school year), an individualized family service plan that contains the material described in section 636, and that is developed in accordance with this section, may serve as the IEP of the child if using that plan as the IEP is-(i) consistent with State policy; and (ii) agreed to by the agency and the child's parents.	Section 613(a)(4) Educational Agency Eligibility - Permissive Use of Funds (A) Services and Aids That Also Benefit Nondisabled Children For the costs of special education and related services and supplementary aids
Prior IDEA 1997	Section 614(a) LEA Application (5) provide assurances that the local educational agency or intermediate educational unit will establish or revise, whichever is appropriate, an individualized education program for each child with a disability (or, if consistent with State policy and at the discretion of the local educational agency or intermediate educational unit, and with the concurrence of the parents or guardian, an individualized family service plan described in section 1477(d) for each child with a disability aged 3 to 5, inclusive) at the beginning of each school year and will then review and, if appropriate, revise its provisions periodically, but not less than annually;

Committee Reports			The bill requires that a child's IEP include a statement of measurable annual goals, including benchmarks or short-term objectives. The Committee views this requirement as crucial in helping parents and educators determine if the goals can reasonably be met during the year, and, as important, allow parents to be able to monitor their child's progress.  The bill requires that annual goals included in a child's IEP relate to meeting the child's needs that result from the child's disability to enable to the child to be involved in and progress in the general education curriculum. It is intended to require that the IEP's annual goals focus on how the child's needs resulting from his or her disability can be addressed so that the child can participate, at the individually appropriate level, in the general curriculum offered to all students.

As under current law, a child's IEP must include a statement of the special education and related services and supplementary aids and services to be provided to the child, or on behalf of the child. The Committee intends that, while teaching and related services methodologies or approaches are an appropriate topic for discussion and consideration by the IEP team during IEP development or annual review, they are not expected to be written into the IEP. Furthermore, the Committee does not intend that changing particular methods or approaches necessitates an additional meeting of the IEP Team.

educated in regular classes. Therefore, the legislation requires that the IEP include an explanation of the extent, if any, to which a child with a disability will not participate with nondisabled children in the general education curriculum	academic activities.  Placement decisions are made on the basis of what each child needs. Every child is unique and so will be his or her needs. Nonetheless, when the decision is made to educate the child separately, an explanation of that decision will need, at a minimum, to be stated as part of the child's IEP.	Children with disabilities must be included in State and district-wide assessments of student progress with individual modifications and accommodations as needed. Thus, the bill requires that the IEP include a statement of any individual modifications in the administration of State and district-wide assessments.	The Committee knows that excluding children with disabilities from these assessments severely limits and in some cases prevents children with disabilities through no fault of their own, from continuing on to post-secondary education. The bill requires that if the IEP team determines that that child's performance cannot appropriately be assessed with the regular education assessments, even with individual

The Committee reaffirms the existing Federal law requirement that children with disabilities participate in State and district-wide assessments. This will assist parents in judging if their child is improving with regard to his or her academic achievement just as parents of nondisabled children do.	The location where special education and related services will be provided to a child influences decisions about the nature and amount of these services and when they should be provided to a child. For example, the appropriate place for the related service may be the regular classroom, so that the child does not have to choose between a needed service and the regular educational program. For this reason, in the bill the Committee has added 'location" to the provision in the IEP that includes 'the projected date for the beginning of services and modifications, and the anticipated frequency, location, and duration of those services.	The bill requires that the IEP include, beginning at age 14 "a statement of the transition service needs of the child under the applicable components of the child's IEP that focuses on the child's courses of study (such as participation in advanced placement courses or a vocational

The purpose of this requirement is to focus attention on how the child's educational program can be planned to help the child make a successful transition to his or her goals for life after secondary school. This provision is designed to augment, and not replace, the separate transition services requirement, under which children with disabilities beginning no later than age sixteen receive transition services including instruction, community experiences, the development of employment and other post-school objectives and, when appropriate, independent living skills and functional vocational evaluation. For example, for a child whose transition goal is a job, a transition service could be teaching the child how to get to the job site on public transportation.

With regard to transition services in IEPs, the bill provides that if an agency, other than the LEA, participating in the child's education fails to provide the transition services described in the child's IEP, the LEA must reconvene the IEP team to identify alternative strategies to meet the child's transition objectives.	The bill's definition of the Individualized Education Program team includes the parents of a child with a disability  The provisions enhance the importance of parents of children with disabilities in the decision making that affects their child's education.	Section 614 requires that each LEA or State educational agency ensure that the parents of each child with a disability are members of any group that makes decisions on the educational placement of their child. The Committee expects that the majority of placement decisions will be made by the IEP team, but in those unique cases where it is not, the Committee expects parents to be involved in the group making the decision.
1997 IDEA Amendments		Section 614(d) Failure to Meet  Transition Objectives  (5) If a participating agency, other than the local educational agency, fails to provide the transition services described in the IEP in accordance with paragraph (1)(A)(vii), the local educational agency shall reconvene the IEP Team to identify alternative strategies to meet the transition objectives for the child set out in that program.	Section 614(f) Educational Placements—Each local educational or State educational agency shall ensure that the parents of each child with a disability are members of any group that makes decisions about the educational placement of their child.

Committee Reports	Additionally, the Committee is aware of, and endorses, the provision in section 300.350 of the current regulations relating to personal accountability. That regulation provides that each public agency must provide special education and related services to a child with a disability in accordance with an IEP. manner consistent with the policy guidance entitled "Deaf Students Education Services," published in the Federal Register (57 Fed. Reg. 49274, October 30, 1992) by the U.S. Department of Education. The bill further requires that the IEP team consider the provision of assistive technology devices and services when developing the child's IEP.	An IEP report card could also be made more useful by including checkboxes or equivalent options that enable the parents and the special educator to review and judge the performance of the child.  An example would be to state a goal or benchmark on the IEP report card and rank it on a multi-point continuum. The goal might be, "Ted will demonstrate effective literal comprehension." The ranking system would then state the following, as indicated by a checkbox: No progress; some progress; good progress; almost complete; completed. Of course, these concepts would be used by the school and the IEP team when appropriate. This example is not intended to indicate the Committee's preference for a single means of compliance with this requirement.

Appendix C. Questions and Answers  Appendix C. Questions and Answers  Note: Under paragraph (b)(2) of this section it is expected that the IEP of a child with a disability will be implemented immediately following the meetings under Reg. Sec. 300.343. An exception to this would be (1) when the meetings occur during the summer or a vacation period, or (2) where there are circumstances that require a short delay (e.g., working out transportation arrangements). However, there can be no undue delay in providing special education and related services to the child.	Appendix C - Questions and Answers 9. Must IEPs be reviewed or revised at the beginning of each school year? No. The basic requirement in the regulations is that IEPs must be in effect at the beginning of each school year. Meetings must be conducted at least once each year to review and, if necessary, revise the IEP of each child with a disability. However, the meetings may be held anytime during the year, including (1) at the end of the school year, (2) during the summer, before the new school year begins, or (3) on the anniversary date of the last IEP meeting on the child.

With respect to the provision of transition services to students below age 16, the Report of the House Committee on Education and Labor on Pub. L. 101-476 includes the following statement:	"Although this language leaves the final determination of when to initiate transition services for students under age 16 to the IEP process, it nevertheless makes clear that Congress expects consideration to be given to the need for transition services for some students by age 14 or younger. The Committee encourages that approach because of their concern that age 16 may be too late for many students, particularly those at risk of dropping out of school and those with the most severe disabilities. Even for those students who stay in school until age 18, many will need more than two years of transitional services. Students with disabilities are now dropping out of school before age 16, feeling that the education system has little to offer them. Initiating services at a younger age will be critical."		Reg. special education and related services, and (2) join with the other participants in deciding what services the agency will provide to the child.

Appendix C - Questions and Answers

A surrogate parent is a person appointed to represent the interests of a child with a disability in the educational decision-making process when that child has no other parent representation. The surrogate has all of the rights and responsibilities of a parent under Part B. Thus, the surrogate parent is entitled to (1) participate in the child's IEP meeting, (2) see the child's education records, and (3) receive notice, grant consent, and invoke due process to resolve differences.

Appendix C - Questions and Answers

28. Must the public agency let the parent know who will be at the IEP meeting?

Yes. In notifying parents about the meeting the agency "must indicate the purpose, time, and location of the meeting, and who will be in attendance. (Sec. 300.345(b), emphasis added.) If possible, the agency should give the name and position of each person who will attend. In addition, the agency should inform the parents of their right to bring other participants to the meeting.

Appendix C - Questions and Answers

31. Do parents have the right to a copy of their child's IEP? Yes. Section 300.345(f) states that the public agency shall give the parent, on request, a copy of the IEP. In order that parents may know about this provision, it is recommended that they be informed about it at the IEP meeting and/or receive a copy of the IEP itself within a reasonable time following the meeting.

decisions. The agency would not have to use all the sources in every instance. The point of the requirement is to ensure that more than one source is used in interpreting evaluation data and in making placement decisions. For example, while all of the named sources would have to be used for a child whose suspected disability is mental retardation, they would not be necessary for certain other children with disabilities, such as a child who has a severe articulation impairment as his primary disability. For such a child, the speech-language pathologist, in complying with the multiple source requirement, might use (1) a standardized test of articulation, and (2) observation of the child's articulation behavior in conversational speech.

Reg. Sec. 300.341 State educational agency responsibility.

(a) Public agencies. The SEA shall ensure that each public agency develops and implements an IEP for each of its children with disabilities.

(b) Private schools and facilities. The SEA shall ensure that an IEP is developed and implemented for each child with a disability who

(1) Is placed in or referred to a private school or facility by a public agency; or

(2) Is enrolled in a parochial school or other private school and receives special education or related services from a public agency.

Note: This section applies to all public agencies, including other State agencies (e.g., departments of mental health and welfare) that provide special education to a child with a disability either directly, by contract or through other arrangements. Thus, if a State welfare agency contracts with a private school or facility to provide special education to a child with a disability, that agency would be responsible for ensuring that an IEP is developed for the child.

Appendix C - Questions and Answers

1. Who is responsible for ensuring the development of IEPs for children with disabilities served by a public agency other than an LEA?

a. SEA polices or Interagency Agreements.

The SEA, through its written policies or agreements, must ensure that IEPs are properly written and implemented for all children with disabilities in the State. This applies to each interagency situation that exists in the State, including any of the following:

(1) When an LEA initiates the placement of a child in a school or

(1) When an LEA initiates the placement of a child in a school or program operated by another State agency (see "LEA-Initiated Placements" in paragraph -- "b.", below);

(2) when a State or local agency other than the SEA or LEA places whose eligibility under this part will end, because of their age, before they will be released from prison.

(B) Additional Requirement- If a child with a disability is convicted as an adult under State law and incarcerated in an adult prison, the child's IEP Team may modify the child's IEP or placement notwithstanding the requirements of sections 612(a)(5)(A) and 614(d)(1)(A) if the State has demonstrated a bona fide security or compelling penological interest that cannot otherwise be accommodated.

a child in a residential facility or other program; (3) when parents initiate placements in public institutions; and

(4) when the courts make placements in correctional facilities.

Note: This is not an exhaustive list. The SEA'S policies must cover any other interagency situation that is applicable in the State, including placements that are made for both educational and for non-educational purposes.

Frequently, more than one agency is involved in developing or implementing an IEP of a child with a disability (e.g., when the LEA remains responsible for the child, even though another public agency provides the special education and related services, or when there are shared cost arrangements). It is important that SEA policies or agreements define the role of each agency involved in the situations described above, in order to resolve any jurisdictional problems that could delay the provision of FAPE to a child with a disability. For example, if a child is placed in a residential facility, any one or all of the following agencies might be involved in the development and/or implementation of the child's IEP: The child's LEA, the SEA, an other State agency, an institution or school under that agency, and the LEA where the institution is located.

Note: The SEA must also ensure that any agency involved in the education of a child with a disability is in compliance with the LRE provisions of the Act and regulations, and, specifically, with the requirement that the placement of each child with a disability (1) be determined at least annually, (2) be based on the child's IEP, and (3) be as close as possible to the child's home (Sec. 300.552(a), Placements.)

The answer will vary from State to State, depending upon State law, policy, or practice. In each State, however, the SEA is ultimately responsible for ensuring that each agency in the State is in compliance with IEP requirements and the other provisions of the Act and regulations. The SEA must ensure that every child with a disability in the State has FAPE available, regardless of which agency, State or local, is responsible for the child. While the SEA has flexibility in deciding the best means to meet this obligation (e.g., through interagency agreements), there can be no failure to provide FAPE due to jurisdictional dispute among agencies.	Note: Section 300.2(b) states that the requirements of the Act and the regulations apply to all political subdivisions of the State that are involved in the education of children with disabilities, including (1) the SEA, (2) LEAs, (3) other State agencies (such as Departments of Mental Health and Welfare, and State schools for students with deafness or students with blindness), and (4) State correctional facilities.

If the State adopts such a policy, and the child transfers from one school to another, the transmission of any of the child's records must include both the child's current individualized education program and any such statement of current or previous disciplinary action that has been taken against the child.
